Description

Clomed - is available in tablet form. It is an antiestrogenic drug, with an anabolic effect. The principle of its action is based on the fact that it blocks the action of estrogens on the hypothalamus. This triggers a chain reaction, the hypothalamus provokes a surge of thyroid gland hormones, and they in turn affect the testes, causing the synthesis of testosterone.

Bodybuilders use Clomed in combination with other steroids and growth hormone, or as an independent agent for anabolic effect. Clomid prevents the accumulation of fluid in the body and makes the muscle mass dry and elastic.

In sports, Clomed is often used to prevent side effects of steroids, which have a mildly androgenic effect and strongly inhibit the production of their own testosterone. In medicine, Clomed is used to treat female infertility.

Course of admission

To maintain the results of the steroid course, it is necessary to start taking the drug immediately after the course of anabolic therapy. To start taking Clomid follows the next day, it is undesirable to delay the beginning of the reception for longer than a week. Dosages and duration of the course are selected individually, but, as a rule, for men, the dosage is 50-100 mg daily, with a course duration of 2-3 weeks.

On the course of Clomid it is very important not to drink alcohol, this negatively affects the effectiveness of the drug.

Women athletes taking the drug is not recommended to not violate the natural level of hormones in the body. An exception may be the use of Clomed in the period before the competition for burning excess fat, since the drug has some anabolic effect, and yet the drug should be used very carefully and under the supervision of a specialist.

Side effects

Taking Clomed for a short period of time and adhering to the recommended doses, you take almost no risk. Most of the side effects caused by Clomed are temporary and disappear after discontinuation of the drug.

Among the possible side reactions: the flushes of blood to the face, nausea, pain in the chest, headaches.

One of the side effects manifested itself should immediately stop taking the drug is - impaired vision. When taking the drug, hormones stimulating the pituitary gland are allocated, it is located near the eye nerves. With its hyperstimulation, it increases in size and creates unnecessary pressure on the eye nerves. This requires more than a week of drug intake.
