Androgenic steroid trenbolone acetate is a very powerful injectable used by many bodybuilders, and has no estrogenic action. It is a popular drug among bodybuilders being used more in the definition phase. Because it has a very strong androgenic action and does not show estrogenic properties, it contributes to the formation of a tough looking muscle mass and strength and does not hold much water in the body. This property makes trenbolone look like Nandrolone D, but compared to Nandrolone D is a good muscle builder, and it is gained quality muscle mass, it does not retain water and fat in the body. Trenbolone is very sensitive to androgenic receptors it has the propriety to bind with them more than testosterone. This property is very important because the higher is related to androgen receptors the strongest are the muscle building mechanisms and the fat melting is more effective. Consumption of trenbolone will rapidly reduce own testosterone levels. For this reason it will be necessary to use tamoxifen or Clomed when finishing trenbolone cycle.

Androgenic side effects are possible and often occur to those who are predisposed, they can be acne, oily skin, hair loss, aggressiveness and prostate enlargement. It is also toxic to the liver so it is necessary to control cholesterol levels during the cycle and after finishing the cycle.

Therefore Trenbolone is a steroid that can be combined with almost any type of steroid. In case is desired muscle definition can be combined with Strombaject or Primobol and if it aims to gain a greater muscle mass it can be combined with Danabol.

The optimal dose is 100-300 mg administered weekly. A trenbolone cycle lasts almost 6-8 weeks.
