Detailed Description

What is Strombaged 10 mg (EPF)? Structurally, this is a preparation of stanozolol, designed for oral (inside) use. Typically, it is a fairly strong anabolic-androgenic steroid, which is characterized by rapid action. In iron sport, it is used mainly in drying courses, when an athlete needs to build high-quality musculature (rigid and sculpted, without water retention or fat accumulation).

The active substance of the drug, the steroid stanozolol, has long been well known to domestic bodybuilders. The first trademarks with it as an active substance were introduced back in the 60s of the 20th century. Initially, all of the drugs were intended exclusively for medicinal use: in veterinary or traditional medicine. But, having shown high efficiency as a sports dope, they quickly became widespread in bodybuilding, and not only.

Steroid profile Strombaged (EPF) 10mg: anabolic activity index-320% of testosterone, androgenic activity index-30% of testosterone; half-life-up to 12-24 hours, detection time-at least 3 weeks; hepatotoxicity-Yes; aromatization (conversion to estrogens) - No; progestogenic activity-No; suppression of HPTA function (reduction of testosterone synthesis) - Yes.

The stanozolol steroid is a derivative of dihydrotestosterone, which is due to many pharmacological properties of the drug.

What improvements for the athlete express the effect of Strombaged (EPF) 10mg? First of all, it contributes to:

- Qualitative muscle growth;
- Burning of subcutaneous fat;
- Excretion of excess fluid;
- Increase muscle stiffness;
- Development of muscle relief;
- Growth of strength indicators;
- Increase endurance.

The stanza effect (slang contraction) is partially mediated by reducing the concentration of sex hormone-binding globulin (SHBG).

What side effects are possible due to Strombaged (EPF) 10mg? The drug is not peculiar estrogenic or progestogenic side effects, and androgenic side effects are rare if you exclude contraindications and follow the recommendations. However, it cannot be called completely safe. With the systematic administration of tablets, there is a risk: increased blood pressure, the occurrence of headaches, the development of testicular atrophy, the appearance of pain in the joints or damage to ligaments. Also, do not forget that it is a toxic steroid for the liver (moderately). Abuse of dosage, frequency of administration and duration of the course is strongly not recommended.
